Stieska Shouted Down At Democratic Rally; Parente Answers Critics

Has Statement Accusing Mayor

The political campaign in Monessen came to life last night when GOP mayoralty candidate John R. Stieska, registered Democrat, was hooted down and refused recognition when he attempted to speak at a Westmoreland County Democratic rally at Polish National Alliance hall.

Mayor Hugo J. Parente, who is seeking a fourth term as mayor, had just finished a blistering speech in answer to charges made against him by Stieska last week, when Stieska, sitting in the audience, demanded the floor.

"I want to answer him," Stieska shouted. "Let me speak."

The crowd of about 300 yelled, "Sit down. Sit down."

Stieska persisted, saying "I'm a Democrat. I have a right to speak." Again he was met with loud boos.

Asked to Sit Down

City Solicitor Frank P. Ezerski Jr., toastmaster for Monessen candidates at the meeting, informed Stieska emphatically the meeting was "for Democrats."

"I have the floor," Ezerski said. "We do not recognize you. Please be a gentleman and sit down."

Stieska shouted back: "I believe my opponent will let me answer him. Let me speak. I am a Democrat. Are you going to refuse me?"

He was jeered and refused recognition once more.

The meeting continued with Stieska remaining in the audience until it was over. However, about five of his supporters walked out.

The statement which Stieska had prepared but wasn't permitted to read, contained some repetition of last week's charges against Parente, when Stieska charged that Parente "is not indispensible. . . not honorable. . . not responsible for the material progress of Monessen as he claims."

However, his newest statement contained among other things a lengthy charge about Parente "not being honorable."

It said:

"I accused the Mayor of not being an honorable man.

"The record of the Mayor in the rackets, scandals, bad publicity, court established convictions, stolen elections in which evidence was shown he benefited from same, jail sentences during his adminis-

GOP SPEAKER — Rep. Robert Breon Jr., State College, will be the principal speaker at the Republican dinner and rally at the Baldoc Hills Country Club, near Irwin, Tuesday, Oct. 22. Breon is a member of the House Committee on Law and Order.

Mayor Speaks At PNA Rally

Speaking before 300 persons at a Democratic rally last night at Monessen Polish National Alliance Hall, Mayor Hugo J. Parente, who is seeking a fourth term, charged his Republican opponent, John R. Stieska, as a man who "apparently believes he can change his political face by parting his hair on the other side."

Parente made his charge in a prepared statement in answer to criticism leveled at him by Stieska last week. Parente defeated Stieska, a registered Democrat, for the Democratic nomination but lost to Stieska for the GOP nomination.

Ridiculing Stieska's emphasis on the need for a two party system in the city, Parente claimed that his opponent is really just a Republican at heart.

He said Stieska first registered as a Republican when he came to Monessen in 1935 and has "switched his party affiliation no less than five times."

Blasts Stieska

"The record shows," Parente said, "that out of the last 22 years, my opponent was a Republican for 16 years and a Democrat for 6 years.

"He would have to feed many, many tranquillizing pills to the people of Monessen to convince them that he is a man of fixed political convictions."

Parente said he doesn't believe Stieska is interested in a strong minority party.

"He sounds too much like a man who does most of his thinking in a revolving door," the Mayor said.

He also accused Stieska of placing Monessen "in a category of a second rate city" because the druggist had criticized Parente's claims of being responsible for community progress.

Cites Progress

"No decent citizen running for public office would have the gall to make such a public statement that we haven't made progress in Monessen," the Mayor said. "We have made progress in Monessen. This is a fact, and is generally recognized by all. In fact, we have only started on the road to be the best third class city in the state."

Parente said it is a good thing for Monessen that "the majority

Ferencz Returns To Parente Fold At Rally Here

Last night's Westmoreland County Democratic rally in Monessen marked the return of Patrolman Michael Ferencz into the regular Democratic fold.

Ferencz, bolted the regular Democratic organization in Monessen four years ago when he gave up his police chief's job to run against Mayor Hugo J. Parente for mayor.

In last May's primary election, Ferencz supported Parente's opponent, John R. Stieska. Parente won the Democratic nomination but lost to Stieska for the GOP nod.

Ferencz told the rally that he is a "Democrat first, last and always. If Parente hadn't won the Democratic nomination in May I still wouldn't be for him. But he did and I'm a Democrat. So I'll support the entire Democratic ticket."

Ferencz also said that "I know that I was branded as a rebel by the regular Democrats. But I was doing what I thought was best for Monessen. I still think I was right. I am not sorry. However, confession is good for the soul and BEGIN DONNER BLACKTOPPING — State Department of Highways personnel this morning began the work of blacktopping Donner Ave. from Oneida to 12th streets. Here they are as City officials watch.

No Parking Ban On Donner Ave.

Chief of Police Michael Kuvinka today warned motorists about the no parking ban for the entire length of Donner Ave.

The ban, which was effective at 7 a. m. today, will continue until the resurfacing of Donner Ave. is completed. Work on the project was started this morning by the state Highways Department.

Utility firms, Kuvinka said, now are in the process of repairing or laying of new lines on the thoroughfare.

Ike Celebrates 67th Birthday

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower observes his 67th birthday today in apparent good health and spirits despite the continuing stress of domestic and world problems.

It was slated to be mostly a day of work for the Chief Executive. He had a busy schedule of appointments before a mid-afternoon birthday visit by a group of Republicans including Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

His schedule included a morning conference with Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy at which U.S. progress on missiles and satellites appeared certain to be discussed.

Says Satellite Probe Is Planned in Senate

WASHINGTON (UP) — Senate Democratic whip Mike Mansfield today promised an investigation of charges the Army was kept from developing what Army men claim could have become man's first artificial moon.

He blamed the Eisenhower administration for failing to "knock heads together" among the armed services and for getting this country "behind the eight ball" in missile and satellite development.

Mansfield told the United Press an Army rocket team headed by German scientist Dr. Werner Von Braun produced "the only fully developed ballistic missile I know about"—the Redstone missile with a 200-300 mile range.

Promises Definite Probe

"I understand they could have" produced a missile that would have put an American earth satellite in the sky ahead of Russia's Sputnik, he said.

"But I haven't got the proof."

Asked if Senate investigators will look into the matter, he replied: "You bet they will."

As Sputnik spun around the earth today there were these other developments:

—Aviation Week Magazine said Lockheed Aircraft Corp. is working on an earth-circling reconnaissance satellite, to be ready by 1960, which would become a manned vehicle in later versions. It said the Lockheed vehicle is known as the "Pied Piper" or "Big Brother" and would carry television, photographic cameras and an infra-red spotter or radar scanner systems.

—Adm. Jerauld Wright, commander of North Atlantic Treaty Forces in the Atlantic, said Russia's launching of its man-moon indicates the Reds have reached "an advanced stage" of missile and satellite development. But he indicated he was opposed to any "crash" program to overtake the Russians.

Bus and Car Involved in Accident Here

A bus and car were involved in one of two accidents reported in Monessen over the week end, police said today.

A car driven by Milford Transmore, 1534 Schoonmaker Ave., was involved in an accident with a Westside Motor Transit Co. bus Saturday night about 7:30 near 1300 Schoonmaker Ave. Operator of the bus was Joseph Orotolo, Newell.

No injuries were reported.

The other accident resulted in James Reed, 17, R. D., Monongahela, being held on a hit-run charge.

Reed was involved in a mishap with a car operated by Leonard Kidwell, 440 Knox Ave., Monessen, last night at 7:55 near Sixth St. and Parkway.

Reed, it is alleged, turned off his lights and fled the scene. He was caught after a chase by Kidwell, police stated.

Further Talks Not Scheduled; Many Stranded

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Pittsburgh Railways Co. trolley and bus operators went on strike today, leaving the nation's steel capital without mass transportation.

The crippling transit walkout stranded thousands of commuters. It came after union and company negotiators failed to reach agreement in round-the-clock contract talks arranged by federal and state mediators with the aid of Mayor David L. Lawrence.

Mass transportation ground to a halt shortly after 2 a.m. e.d.t. when the company turned down a last-minute wage offer by the union, representing 2,200 operators of the firm's 650 trolleys and 215 buses.

Lawrence termed the walkout a "tragedy" and said a city without public transportation "is a strangled city." He had pleaded for both sides to remain in continuous negotiations "for a week or for how long it would take to resolve differences."

Federal Mediator G. Hardy Young said no further bargaining sessions were planned.

The union, Division 85, Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railways and Motor Coach Employes, staged a 35-day strike in 1954 to win its contract demands.

425,000 Passengers

The railways company carries 425,000 passengers daily in an area of 1,500,000 persons. The strike caught thousands of commuters unprepared.

City Traffic Engineer Michael Gittens reported that by midmorning traffic was slowed to a near standstill in some areas as persons who normally ride the transit system attempted to drive to the city's downtown area. Gittens said motorists reported it took them two hours to make a normal 20-minute trip to the Golden Triangle.

Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. said hundreds of workers reported late at the firm's big Pittsburgh Works, but production had been maintained.

The time-honored gesture of the hitch-hiker took on added importance as many commuters stood on street corners trying to "thumb" rides to work.

Neighbors established car pools. District railroads scheduled extra runs. Suburban bus lines planned additional services. Industrial organizations and institutions considered organized pick-up stations for workers and school boards figured ways and means to get children to classes.

C. D. Palmer, president of the transit company, stood firm on his proposal for a 16-cent an hour wage increase in a two-year contract. The union had demanded a 31-cent an hour boost in a two-year agreement. The operators now receive $2.14 an hour.

At issue was the cost of the company and union plans. Palmer said the management proposal would spend all the additional revenue expected from a $1,078,000 a year fare increase that went into

Large Crowd Is Expected at Chamber Dinner

A crowd of over 700 persons is expected at the 34th annual Monessen Chamber of Commerce banquet tomorrow night at Twin Coaches, Leonard Stern and Frank P. Ezerski Jr., general co-chairman, announced today.

The banquet will feature Drew Pearson, internationally known newspaper columnist whose articles appear in The Daily Independent. Pearson just recently returned from an extensive tour of the Middle East.

The banquet will begin at 6:30 a.m. Rabbi Theodore Stampfer, of Kneseth Israel Snyagogue, will deliver the invocation. Harold T. Baker will lead group singing and Denver Rhome will provide organ music during dinner.

Stern will extend greetings and Ezerski will be toastmaster. Charles W. Hagerstrand, Chamber president, also will extend greetings.

Harry R. Pore Jr., managing editor of The Independent, will introduce Pearson.

The Rev. Martin J. O'Toole, of St. Leonard Roman Catholic Church, will offer benediction.

Others on the banquet committee are: Andrew Kritsky, tickets; Milton Rosenson, banquet and staging; Mayor Hugo J. Parente and Dr. J. Karl Beery, reception; Thomas B. Herron Jr., transportation, and Larry Doyle, publicity.

Following the speaking program, guests are invited to stay for dancing and a floor show featuring pianist Al Morgan.

Hospital Rules Changed by Flu

Because of the current flu-type epidemic in the district, Charleroi-Monessen Hospital today announced new visiting regulations.

For maternity patients; one person, husband or nearest relative, is permitted; critical patients; immediate family, one at a time; medical and surgical patients; nearest relative, one person only, and children patients: family, one person at a time.

No children are permitted to visit patients.

Persons with respiratory ailments also are not permitted to visit, the hospital said.

Present Library Here Is Inadequate

(Monessen citizens will vote Nov. 5 on a $200,000 bond issue proposed to finance construction of a municipal library. In a series of three articles, of which this is the first, The Daily Independent presents the factual information about the project.)

At the general election on Nov. 5 the city's 10,690 voters will be asked to determine the future of public library service in Monessen.

Specifically, they will be asked to approve an increase of $200,000 in the city's indebtedness, the funds to be used to construct a public library building. The question will be stated on the voting machines, and the voter will say only "Yes" or "No".

But the real questions are whether the people of Monessen want a library adequate for the size and needs of the community and whether they are willing to have the municipal government assume this responsibility.

The present library, established in 1936, is operated by a private non-profit organization, the Civic Library Association. And it is generally thought to be a good small library.

Just Fair Start

Actually, however, it is little more than a fair start towards what a city the size of Monessen should have.

Joseph N. Wheeler, a nationally known authority on public library development and co-author of a standard book on the subject, made a survey of Monessen's library needs two years ago. And it is on his report that the proposed program, of which the $200,000 bond issue is a first step, is based.

Comparing local facilities with standards of the American Library Association (adopted in 1948 and now outmoded), here are some of the glaring deficiencies Wheeler found:

—Monessen in 1955 spent about 60 cents per capita on library service. The standard in 1948 for only "minimum" service was $1.50 and for "reasonably good" service, $2.25.

—The present library has in its collection 14,065 books or only .7 volume per capita. The standard would be 2.5 books per capita and a total of 47,500.

—Because the collection was so small, patrons borrowed only 2.71 books per capita here in 1955. The standard is 8 volumes.

—Wheeler found only 22 chairs which readers could use in the library building and only 6 were on the main floor. A suitable library for Monessen should have 95 reader seats.

These are but a few of the ma-

Nixon Talks to Editors About The Problems at Little Rock

(The editor of The Daily Independent was among those present in Oklahoma City, Okla., Saturday night when Vice President Richard M. Nixon met with members of the National Conference of Editorial Writers at their annual meeting. Following is the first of several reports on the unusual session.)

By HARRY R. PORE Jr.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon spent more than two hours in a free-wheeling discussion of critical national and international problems with about 100 editorial writers from newspapers throughout the nation at Oklahoma City Saturday night.

It was a unique session, differing from a press conference in that the Vice President asked that he not be quoted directly. He made some exceptions to that later for the benefit of working reporters who were present.

Mr. Nixon had no prepared text and used no notes. He took questions as they came from the editorial writers and answered them frankly and fully in entirely informal fashion.

He was not trying to make news, he told us, but to supply background which might be helpful to people who express opinions about public affairs. Mr. Nixon indicated also that he was interested in doing a little pulse-feeling himself in an audience assembled from many parts of the country.

It cannot be doubted that the Vice President was accurately representing the views of President Eisenhower in much of what he said. For that reason, it seems worthwhile to report the discussion in some detail.

Among the very first questions were several about Little Rock and the general problem of racial integration and equality.

Mr. Nixon said the President had been accused both of acting too soon at Little Rock and of acting not soon enough. The critics are wrong on both counts, the Vice President feels.

After discussing the legal aspects of the situation, Mr. Nixon said the President could not have acted until the court order was issued on Friday of the crucial week end at Little Rock. To have done so, would have been to invade the prerogatives of the court.

Troops were sent to Little Rock to suppress violent obstruction of the court order, but the violence did not occur until school opened on Monday. And that was the only point at which the President was justified to intervene with force.

Throughout his discussion Mr. Nixon stressed the reluctance of President Eisenhower to act in the way he finally felt he had to act.

He said Mr. Eisenhower is a firm believer in states right. But the rights of states cannot be maintained if authority is not respected.

Speaking of the racial problem

At Least Nine Die in State Traffic Crashes

Waynesburg Man Victim; Two Die Near Kittanning

By UNITED PRESS

Traffic accidents on Pennsylvania highways claimed at least nine lives during the weekend, a United Press survey showed today.

Two persons were killed in a collision on Route 422 near Kittanning Saturday. A grade crossing accident in Somerset took the life of a truck driver.

The fatalities:

Waynesburg: Clifford Costello, 28, Waynesburg mechanic, was killed Sunday when his station wagon went out of control and crashed into a tree near here. Fred Cox Jr., 28, also Waynesburg, was injured.

Wilkes-Barre: Mrs. Nellie Lewis, 52, Hillsgrove, was killed Sunday when an automobile driven by her husband, Gleason, 57, collided with another machine in a dense fog on Route 115 near here. The husband was critically injured.

Chambersburg: Paul Beltz, 23, Fayetteville, was injured fatally Saturday night when the automobile in which he was a passenger crashed into a brick barn along Route 997, east of here.

Kittanning: Two persons were killed Saturday night in a head-on collision. They were Mrs. Myrtle May, 52, Cheektowaga, N.Y., and Calvin E. Snyder, 41, Elderton, Pa. Police said a car driven by Mrs. May's husband collided with Snyder's auto on Route 422. Mrs. May's pet boxer dog was also killed. May was injured.

Butler: Archie N. Faust about 60, Rural Ridge, Allegheny County, was killed shortly after midnight Saturday when he lost control of his auto and it rolled over a 15-foot embankment. State police said Faust was alone when the accident occurred on Route 68.

Somerset: Edwin J. Ludy, 23, Glencoe, Somerset County, was killed Saturday when his pickup truck collided with a Baltimore and Ohio locomotive. The engine dragged the truck nearly 700-feet before stopping. The coroner has ordered an inquest.

Franklin: Howard A. Barter, 32, Utica, Venango County, suffered fatal injuries Saturday night when the car in which he was riding crashed into a culvert off Route 322. The driver, Thomas J. Duma, Corry, received multiple injuries.

Hoffa Election Temporarily Set Aside by Judge

WASHINGTON (UP)—A federal judge today temporarily barred James R. Hoffa and other newly elected officers of the Teamsters Union from taking office.

Hoffa was elected president of the union to succeed Dave Beck at the recent teamsters convention in Miami Beach, Fla.

Federal Judge F. Dickinson Letts signed a temporary restraining order, in effect suspending the convention's decision and set Monday, Oct. 21 for a hearing.

He ordered Hoffa to show cause why he should not be prevented from taking office.

A temporary restraining order normally expires in 10 days.

The judge acted on a plea by 13 rank-and-file teamsters who charged that 80 per cent of the convention delegates were illegally selected to insure victory for Hoffa and his slate.

jor shortcomings which an expert discovered.

But how to remedy them? The directors of the Civic Library Association pondered that question for months. And they had to conclude that if Monessen is to have a really adequate library, government help would be needed on a large scale. Any expansion that a private group could manage would still leave the city with less library than it ought to have.

Again they sought expert advice. Among others, Wheeler was consulted, and so was Ralph Munn, director of the large Carnegie Library system of Pittsburgh.

Their answers came quickly and positively: Library service is a function of municipal government. Take your problem to your City Hall.

The Civic Library board took the advice and President Charles C. Throop and a committee held several meetings with Mayor Hugo J. Parente and the other members of council.

It was immediately found that the law in Pennsylvania encourages third class cities to do just what the experts advised. It empowers them to establish municipal libraries and appropriate funds to operate them. It also enables them to construct buildings and borrow money for that purpose.

Would the council agree to do this and would it agree to conditions which would prevent the the library from becoming a "political football"?

The answer came, "Yes".

And out of further discussion came an agreement between the City government and the directors of the Civic Library Association to put a program before the people of the community and seek their approval.

in general. Mr. Nixon said this country cannot maintain a system in which all citizens do not enjoy the rights which are guaranteed to every citizen in the basic law, the Constitution.

Nor can America afford a system which does not give every person the right to develop his abilities to the fullest. Such a system puts us at a disadvantage in the competition with Communism, said Mr. Nixon.

Turning to the international aspects of the problem, the Vice President pointed out that the people of the world now are divided roughly into three geographical and philosophical areas: (1) the Communist world, (2) the free world and (3) the neutral world, the latter consisting mostly of Asiatic, African and Middle East peoples.

About one billion people now live in each of these areas, said Mr. Nixon, which makes it obvious that the future of the world to a large extent rests with the third group. Most of these people are non-white.

And what do they want from us? Well mainly, said Mr. Nixon, who has visited extensively in Asia, Africa and the Middle East, they want recognition of their equal dignity as human beings. And no matter what we do for them in the way of material help, we will not have their confidence until we ourselves are practicing the equality which we profess.

What of the future of race relations in the South?

Mr. Nixon feels that civil rights laws can help but cannot be the main answer. He sees the greatest hope in the leadership of southerners having moderate views — educators, editors, ministers and others.

The Vice President left us with the impression that the Eisenhower administration will be doing everything possible to strengthen the hands and voices of those who are working soberly and responsibly for solutions of race problems.

Nowhere in the Vice President's discussion was there a hint that he thinks the Republican party should attempt to make political capital out of race questions. Later, when he was discussing philosophical differences between the two parties, he did point out that the Republican party is united on civil rights while the Democratic party is deeply divided.

effect Sunday. The increase boosted the cost of a bus ride for a cash customer to 28 cents.

Union bargainers claimed the company could meet their wage demands within the framework of the new fare structure.

Palmer said the 11th hour union proposal actually amounted to the same 31-cent an hour demand. He said it "would eat up in the first year all of the current fare increase" granted by the state Public Utility Commission.

Union Business Agent Gilbert Teitel said both sides were "miles apart".

"We have offered two proposals while the company has offered only one," he said. "Trolley and bus operators in the city are the lowest paid in the country."

In the 1954 strike, the company lost an estimated two million dollars in revenue. It also cost the operators another $1,800,000 in lost wages and set back the city's business and renaissance programs.

that is why I am here tonight."

He added: "What right is there to have a rebel faction when the present administration is doing such a good job."

Also present and speaking briefly were local Democratic nominee for Council, John Molnar and John Harhai, and Treasurer John Spielman and Controller James Tucci, both seeking reelection.

County candidates speaking were: Judges Edward G. Bauer and David H. Weiss; Coroner Stephen D. Yoney; Earl S. Keim, candidate for District Attorney, and Howard Bricker, clerk of courts nominee.

Judge John M. O'Connell was introduced from the audience.

Both Weiss and Bauer dwelt on the "friendliness" of the present judges, stating they will render justice with "mercy, understanding and from the heart."

Weiss also endorsed the $200,000 Monessen public library bond issue up for a public vote in the Nov. 5 general election. He said:

"I am from Monessen and for Monessen The library issue is a very good thing. We need it."

Bauer said that newspapers in the county have been saying that the courts "are political. Never once has any lawer — Republican or Democrat — gone to the higher courts and accused our courts under Democratic judges of rendering decisions because of politics. If it were true, our rulings would have been revealed. They never have been."

Frank P. Ezerski Jr., city solicitor and assistant district attorney, was toastmaster for local candidates, and Anthony J. Petrosky, state assemblyman from Slickville, introduced the county candidates.

Anthony Czelen was in charge of arrangements.

Democratic Dinner

The $25-plate dinner for the Westmoreland County Democratic campaign committee, will be held beginning at 6:30 tonight at Twin Coaches.

Over 1,200 persons are expected.

Clinton Goldman, general counsel for the United Steelworkers (AFL-CIO), will deliver the principal address in place of David J. McDonald, USW president who is ill.

Atty. Frank P. Ezerski Jr., Monessen, will be toastmaster.

'Soapy' Campaign

Westmoreland County Republicans are trying to work Democrats into a lather by the distribution of campaign soap.

The cakes, reading "Clean Up Westmoreland November 5th — Vote Republican," are being given out by GOP women throughout the county.

"It is soap that won't give up," Mrs. Nellie George Anderson, acting vice chairman of the Republican County Committee, said. "The message on the cakes will last to the very last sliver," she added.

Mrs. Anderson pointed out that the soap is pure castile, "the kind that can do an effective cleansing job without irritation."

GOP for Bonus

A recommendation that voters cast their ballots in favor of the proposed bonus for veterans of the Korean War was made today by Edwin A. Swink, Westmoreland County Republican chairman. The question as to whether Pennsylvania should pay such a bonus will be decided at the polls Nov. 5.

Swink recalled that the Republican state platform in 1954, while commending the paying of a bonus to veterans ofWorld Wars I and II, pledged that the party would favor "like payment to Korean War veterans."

The chairman pointed out that the Republican Party has always been interested in the welfare of veterans and that a vote in favor of the Korean bonus would be consistent with party policy. He added that many of the GOP county and local candidates in the current election campaign are war veterans.

trations is not the record of an honorable man.

"Moreover, I add that he is not honorable but also a hypocrite and ingrate. To prove this I only need to remind you of the sound truck incident on Primary Election day.

"If you remember on Election Day last May the Mayor had a sound truck visiting at frequent intervals all the voting precincts of the City at a time when voters were lined up to vote, bellowing at them, 'Don't vote for Stieska. Jack Ross is supporting Stieska, you know what that means. Don't let it happen'."

"He also had a telephone brigade of women calling homes and telling the people the same message. This is the height of hypocrisy. He was insinuating that association with Jack Ross was something criminal and something to be ashamed of.

"The fact is that Mayor Parente started his career back in 1933 with Jack Ross, he worked for Jack Ross and Jack Ross contributed heavily and worked hard for the Mayor in every campaign except the last.

"After 20 years of intimate association with Jack Ross, the mayor like many other men of questionable past history, having made his money, now tries to impress the people of Monessen that he is respectable and honorable. To see this is hypocrisy and ingratitude, for Mayor Parente owes much to Jack Ross. An honorable man would not have done this."

But the Mayor said there "is no room for complacency in our progressive administration."

Four Accidents In the District Over Week End

Four motor accidents occurred in the district over the week end, state police reported today.

No one was injured in a two-truck crash at the entrance to Keystone Homes Inc., one mile east of Belle Vernon, at 3:15 this morning.

A truck operated by Otis Wayne Therrell, 38, Youngstown, Ohio, was delivering a load of material to the firm when it broke down on old Route 981. Another truck, driven by John Kostella, 29, R. D. 3, Belle Vernon, struck the front of the stopped truck, causing about $650 damage.

Four men were taken to Uniontown Hospital early yesterday following a two-car accident on Route 51 near Perryopolis. Treated for cuts and abrasions were Leonard Law, 29, of 87 Millview St.; John Konkis, 33, R.D. 1, West Brownsville; and William Lewis, 26, 81 Millview St. Leonard Kroll, 31, Continental, was unhurt.

Two Are Injured

Two Pittsburgh area men and women were admitted to Charleroi Monessen Hospital after an accident at 1:30 a.m. yesterday, also on Route 51 near Perryopolis.

State police at Belle Vernon said the car, operated by Melvin C. Evans Sr., McKees Rocks, failed to round a curve and plunged into a ditch.

Mrs. Evans was listed in good condition last night with cuts of the head and face and an injury of the right shoulder. An occupant, Joseph Lueck, 43, Pittsburgh, was listed in good condition with bruises and contusions. Police estimated damage at $350.

A West Virginia man was charged with leaving the scene of an accident Saturday after a sideswipe accident on Route 51 about eight miles south of Elizabeth.

State police said George R. Linn, 48, Catawba, fled after his car sideswiped an auto driven by Pete Liposchok, 50, McKeesport. Mr. Liposchok allegedly sped after the fleeing motorist and captured him in Perryopolis. Damage to the cars amounted to $350.

Police said Linn is being held in Monessen jail pending a hearing this evening.

Catholics Plan Annual Mission Sunday in County

Sunday has been designated by Bishop Hugh L. Lamb as the annual Mission Sunday for all Catholic parishes in the Greensburg diocese.

At that time priests will ask their congregations to assist the home and foreign missions with prayers, sacrifices and gifts. Members also will be asked to enroll in the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, a foreign aid mission organization.

This society aids 65 million aged, sick, orphans, and lepers throughout the world each year regardless of race, color, or creed. It maintains 58,000 works of charity including hospitals, schools, orphanages, leprosaria, and dispensaries. It is staffed by 100,000 unsalaried workers among them are not only priests, brothers and sisters, but also doctors, nurses, dentists, teachers, agricultural experts, and scientists.

Bishop Fulton J. Sheen, the noted TV speaker, is national director of this Society in the United States, and the Rev. Francis R. Mullen, Pastor of St. Catherine's Church, Leechburg, is director of the Society for the Diocese of Greensburg.

All mission gifts and offerings received on Mission Sunday will be sent by Bishop Lamb to Bishop Sheen at his New York office. Bishop Sheen will then send these offerings to Pope Pius XII in Rome who distributes these gifts to the home and foreign missions accordingly as they are needed most.

Six Companies Called to Fire In Van Meter

Six fire companies were summoned Saturday night when fire broke out in the upper part of a double house in Van Meter, a coal mining community, in Rostraver Twp. on the Youghiogheny River.

The companies were called when the fire started about 8:30 p. m. It was feared the flames would spread to other buildings in the crowded section.

Fire-fighters from the Smithton Fire Department were credited with handling and extinguishing the blaze before it could spread from the attic portion of the house owned by Mrs. Mary Lemley.

Companies on the alert were North Belle Vernon, Vernon, Webster, Washington Twp. and West Newton.

Belle Vernon firemen said the blaze might have developed as a result of work on the roof of the house earlier Saturday. It was believed that hot roofing materials may have started the attic smouldering.

The upper part of the home was gutted.

Damage was placed between $3,000 and $5,000.

A Basic Right Is Being Trampled

THERE HAVE been few times in our history when civil rights were so much in agitation. While this is going on, there are some important economic rights which affect vast numbers of our people and about which we don't seem to be nearly as agitated as we should be.

Big employers and big unions, under various devices, have made compulsory unionism a widely accepted state of affairs, and in so doing they are trampling on a very basic economic right.

Although it is technically denied, it is a practical fact that in major American industry today no man can hold a job and earn a living unless he joins and pays dues to a union. It makes no difference whether he wants to join or not. It makes no difference whether he agrees or disagrees with the policies and actions of the union. It makes no difference whether he regards the leaders and officers of the union as good men or as scoundrels. Whatever his feelings, the union and the employer are protecting a monopoly power to compel obedience, on pain of discharge and unemployment.

Organized labor has long branded the Taft-Hartley law as a "slave labor" act. But there is nothing in Taft-Hartley which approaches the "involuntary servitude" exacted by the union of anyone who seeks employment in any of our principal industries.

People of such divergent views as Democratic Senator Lausche of Ohio and Republican Senator Knowland of California have spoken out in favor of laws which give each individual the privilege of deciding for himself whether he shall join or not join a union, and guarantee him the right to his job in either case.

More and more people in and out of government are coming to see that corruption and bad practices among unions and employers stem directly from this monopoly power to tell a man that he must join or must not work. Our economy and our industrial climate will be more wholesome when this is more widely understood and when this monopoly power has been ended.

Los Angeles Dodgers

IT'S SETTLED at last. Dem Bums will hereafter be known as the Los Angeles Dodgers, and Brooklyn has lost an institution. The team with a flair for showmanship and drama will be cheek-by-jowl with Hollywood.

From the murk of the metropolis the Dodgers go to bask in the sunlight of the San ernando valley.

O Tempora! O mores! as Leo Durocher once said to an umpire.

Dem Bums got off to a flying start in the National League in 1890, winning the pennant that first season. They won two more pennants, in 1899 and 1900, then went into a long decline, enlivened principally by their crowd-drawing antics. Between 1901 and 1940 they led the league only twice, in 1916 and 1920. The fans stuck by them just the same.

Their troubles began when they were better than ever before. For 13 years, 1945 to 1957, the Dodgers were never worse than third. They won the pennant six times, were runners-up four, and third three times. They were always the team to beat, the pre-season selection of most sportswriters.

As a reward, they found pickings growing slim. At last they reluctantly decided to leave the tree that grows in Brooklyn and move on to greener fields.

They will continue to be heard from.

A Good Example

IT IS a pleasure to note the growing number of major buildings in downtown Monessen which have had a thorough exterior cleaning and general renovation. As this chore is carried out on still other structures, it will have a very beneficial effect on the appearance and the atmosphere of the downtown district.

For some reason the lighter colored building materials have always been popular in Monessen, despite the fact a grit-laden atmosphere is one of our principal civic burdens. When a building emerges from its mantle of 20 years accumulation of dirt, we are frequently surprised to realize we never actually knew the original color.

There is little point in dodging the dirt problem. It is very much with us, and truth to tell we have made little headway in correcting it, although we have ready examples of what has been done in other communities as a beginning. The quicker we get at it with some courage and imagination, the sooner we will enjoy the benefits of a cleaner city.

Meanwhile the property owners who are finding satisfaction in cleaning house are performing a worthwhile community service in showing us what we have been missing.

Merry-Go-Round—

U. S. Foreign Policy Needs 'Reappraisal'

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Shortly after the Eisenhower administration came into office, its new Secretary of State, John Foster Fulles, announced that the American policy of foreign aid must undergo an "agonizing reappraisal." He made the statement in connection with U. S. aid to France, and he made it from the vantage point of a powerful nation withdrawing largess from a weaker one.

Mr. Pearson

Five years have passed since then and there has been no real change of American foreign policy. There has been fumbling and vacillation, but no basic change.

Today, however, following sensational Russian triumphs over the United States in science and military might, the time has definitely arrived for that appraisal. It must be thorough and genuine, no matter how agonizing.

Reasons for that reappraisal are obvious. In case they are not, here are a few indications of how disturbing the concussions from Russian scientific triumphs have been:

Concussion No. 1 — When John Foster Dulles invited Foreign Minister Gromyko to Washington to warn him against Russian encroachment in the Near East, Gromyko later joked about it in New York. He told friends that Russia, not the United States, was now the nation which could speak from strength.

Concussion No. 2 — In Rome the conservative Italian newspaper Candido carried a cartoon showing an Italian ex-Communist at Communist headquarters asking for the return of his party card "Why do you want it back?" he was asked. "Because Russia has the ICBM," was the reply.

Concussion No. 3 — In Athens, the Greek Government, long-time friend and ally of the United States has given special landing privileges to the Soviet airline Aeroflot in Athens en route to Cairo. Simultaneously, Greece protested against letting U S. Air Force planes carrying arms to Jordan land in Athens, even though the U.S. Air Force is training the Greek Air Force.

Strength Goes to the Strong

Concussion No. 4 — When I asked Mariano Rumor, vice-secretary of the Italian Christian Democratic Party, what Americans could do to help defeat Communism at the next Italian elections, he replied:

"Win back from Russia the lead she now has with the ICBM and the new moon. When the Italian people look up at the sky they want to see an American moon, not a Russian moon. If Russia is going to dominate the universe, they'll be tempted to vote Communist."

The temptation to team up with the strong rather than the weak is a human one which has been true ever since the world began, and makes this the greatest psychological setback the United States has experienced since we first won admission to the council tables of the powers.

Unfortunately, we have experienced not one, but a series of setbacks. They began our first defeat by Russia at the Olympic Games one year ago. This had nothing to do with ICBMs or satellites, though it may have had something to do with schools, health, and youth's modern tendency toward indoor television and easy living.

In the year that followed, we saw Indonesia slip alarmingly toward Communism, saw the Malays become shaky, watched an anti-American dictator take over in the SEATO nation of Thailand, caused Japan to seethe over the Girard case, and witnessed the world's first jet transport, bearing the hammer and sickle, land near New York. Finally, we took a back seat regarding the ICBM and the earth satellite.

Where does this leave American foreign policy? That's the agonizing reappraising we have to make. That's also why Gromyko laughed.

A short time ago he didn't laugh, because the United States operated from a position of strength.

Last spring in Kansas City I asked Harry Truman what he would do today to stop Russia from sending arms to Syria and Egypt. His reply as usual was direct.

"I would use the Sixth Fleet," he said.

When Truman was in the White House, he could have used the Sixth Fleet, because he operated from a position of strength. Today he couldn't. Because quietly, both before and after he left the White House, Russia has built her own fleet in the Black Sea three times the size of the Sixth Fleet.

Cold War Is Getting Colder

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

PARIS — The temperature of the cold war is dropping. It is going to get colder and stormier

This is the central conclusion which emerges from a month-long trip to Britain, France, Germany and to the rim of the iron curtain in Vienna. The considered, candid judgments of a wide cross-section of Western diplomats with whom I talked are these:

Mr. Drummond

That Kremlin foreign policy and pressure at every weak point in the Western Alliance is due to get rougher, more unyielding and more reckless.

That this turn for the worse in Soviet tactics springs from weakness, not from strength — from anti-Soviet ferment in the satellites and unrest in the U. S. S. R. itself.

That if the Western nations have the will to maintain their stamina and strength the end result may be a real break-through in the cold war with Moscow finally recognizing that it can only relieve itself of its worst troubles by genuine negotiation— on German unification, or disarmament, in the Middle East.

If this reading of events in the making is correct then we are in for a period of many months or longer of increasing tensity, sharpness and danger with the Soviet Union.

The evidence of harder and more implacable Soviet diplomacy is becoming more visible all the time.

In Evidence at UN

It began with the threatening use it made of its long-range ballistic missile and is in evidence at the United Nations in New York.

It was visible in Nikita Khrushchev's truculent speeches in East erlin just before the German elections during which he made it clear that, no matter who was elected, there would be no unification for Germany except on Soviet terms.

It was visible during the closing days of the disarmament talks in London when the Soviets after brandishing the missile showed they were going to have no part of any reductions of arms, conventional or nuclear, at this time.

Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko delivered the Kremlin's bitterest, name-calling tirade against the West on the eve of the U. N. debate on Hungary and soon thereafter Russian naval units steamed to Syria to stir things up still further in the Middle East.

Gomulka has served notice on Chancellor Adenauer that he will not tolerate negotiations over the Polish-German frontier and has accused Bonn of courting war by even suggesting negotiations. Tito, taking on still a little more Soviet coloration, promptly backed him up.

The view which I find here in Western Europe isthat these are the opening moves in Moscow's return to a very tough policy

The concensus is that there is more to come, that we had better be steeled for the worst and ready not to yield ground in the face of oncoming threats.

My own deep conviction is that a perilous diplomatic period is ahead and that it will take resolute steadiness if the West is to avoid calamity — calamity either through diplomatic or military weakness or through some grievous miscalculation by the Russians as to how far they can go.

Not Wholly Bleak

I do not mean to suggest that the outlook is wholly bleak. It isn't. I find the widely held opinion that the rougher turn which Soviet tactics are taking is primarily diversionary, that it stems not primarily from choice but from what the Kremlin deems the urgent need to hold the line against trouble at home and trouble in the satellites — in Poland, in Hungary, in East Germany and in Yugoslavia.

This view suggests that the Soviets are embarking upon a deliberate policy of diplomatic belligerence in order to distract attention within the U.S.S.R. and within the free world in the expectation that they can gain time to repair their own very serious difficulties.

This explanation is consistent with the premise that the Kremlin genuinely does not want war — just the fruits of war. It is consistent with the evidence that the U.S S R. and the satellites are in trouble economically and politically and are failing to make Communism appealing to their youth.

It is reasonable to believe that the Soviet leaders must keep their people stirred up and filled with fears of the West so that public dissatisfaction can be kept in hand.

It is reasonable to believe that the Soviets want to put off reducing any of the tensions between the West and themselves until they have made more headway toward reducing the tensions between their own people and the regime and between the satellites and Moscow.

The next six months may prove the most precarious, perilous period in East-West relations since the end of the war. But if we can go through it with coolness and stamina, the Soviets may emerge either weaker or more willing to negotiate seriously.

Women Are Buying Costly Evening Wear

By VIVIAN SANDE

NEW YORK (UP)—The impending visit of Britain's Queen Elizabeth to the United States may have something to do with it. Anyway, one maker of elegant ensembles reports a terrific surge of orders of pastel foxes, ermine and mink on silk brocades and chantilly lace over cashmere.

"Our most expensive and most high style lines of evening wear are selling faster than ever," said Kenneth Leitman, vice president of the New York firm of Leitman Furs, Inc., headed by his father, Julius. The firm claims to be the world's largest manufacturers of fur-trimmed sweater coordinates and the country's largest user of mink and chinchilla.

$500 Top Price

The company's most expensive sweater, a four skin homozeygous (beige and white nutation mink shawl on silk-chiffon-lined cashmere with pearl buckle and cuff-links sells for around $500.) Its coordinated evening sweaters and skirts, with mink, ermine, sable or chinchilla trim on silk brocade, poie de soi, or chantilly large overlaid or set into cashmere, cost around $400.

"Perhaps we can thank the Queen," said Leitman, "for boosting the regal look, you know."

The Leitman firm parlayed the idea of color-dyed furs and fur Peter Pan collars on cashmere sweaters into a million-dollar-a-year business. It created a sensation in the fur industry five years ago by dyeing mink pink. Now it dyes ermine, mink and fox into a spectrum from lavender to orange to bright red.

30,000 Fur Combinations

Kenneth Leitman said the firm can produce 30,000 combinations of fur on sweaters (using mink, fox, sable, beaver, chinchilla, ermine, leopard and raccoon). David Leitman, head of production who says he makes about five million cuts a year on mink skins alone, estimates the company uses enough fur trim in a year to fill a freight train of 13 cars.

The smallest sweater the company ever made was a pink mink trimmed cashmere for an infant (reportedly but not confirmed, the daughter of Elizabeth Taylor Todd.) The largest was a size 50... in flaming red with a flaming red-dyed-fox tuxedo front.

Who Is to Blame for Red Satellite 'Beat'

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP)—All hands including President Eisenhower may be talking about the mere symptoms rather than the cause of the Soviet Union's triumph in launching an earth satellite.

The official position adds up just about to this:

Shucks, it isn't so much and, anyway, we could have done it too.

The President struck close to basic causes in his latest news conference when he mentioned the 1945 Russian capture of German scientists at the Peenemunde missile laboratory in northeast Prussia. Captured know-how and native Russia scientific scholarship combined to put Sputnik in the sky.

Moreover, the Russians broke through to the atomic and hydrogen bombs which the United States believed were American secrets and years away from the Kremlin. Lax security enabled spies to give the Communists real aid on those.

Demand A Goat

Over the years the Reds have followed up with a jet-powered airliner well ahead of any U.S. schedule for such. And their claim to have launched an intercontinental ballistic missile generally is accepted now since they hoisted a 184-pound earth satellite into orbit.

All of this adds up to a series of scientific triumphs from which the Soviet Union is squeezing the last bit of prestige, propaganda and diplomatic pressure. Excited U S. senators and congressmen are demanding a special session of Congress, investigations, more money for satellite development— and a goat.

Democrats tend to blame the President in a political play looking toward next year's congressional elections. The Army nuts that all was lost when the satellite job was turned over in the first place to the Navy. The President plays down the more spectacular speculation about what the significance of Sputnik may be.

Ike Bears Brunt

He is on the receiving end of advice and complaint by mighty near everyone in a population which was shocked to its heels by the Soviet Union's satellite first.

"Suddenly," he told his news conference, "all America seems to have become scientists."

That would be excellent if true, but it is not. For what may ail the U.S. satellite and missile programs, if anything, is something that afflicts the American school system on which taxpayers confidently spend billions every year.

Educators report that the American school system is sick in its science departments. The teaching of science in the schools also is especially sick. The fault does not lie with President Eisenhower.

Reds Emphasize Quality

What's wrong is at the grass roots where mama and papa do not insist that high schools adequately offer nor that their kids tackle the tough courses such as mathematics, chemistry and pysics. There is a developing disaster in the shortage of science students, science teachers and scientists in the United States.

Meantime, the Russians are graduating two engineers for every one graduated int he United States. Good ones too. Russian education emphasizes quality. United States emphasis is on quantity. If the Russians are ahead in science it seems that they are likely to remain so.

What to do about that will demand congressional attention next session.

Turkey Is Keeping Its Head During Crisis

By CHARLES M. McCANN

Turkey is setting a good example to the world by keeping its head in a dangerous situation.

The rise of pro-Russian elements to power in Syria, its neighbor on the south, is a serious threat to Turkey's security.

Already faced on the east by Soviet Russia and on the northwest by Communist Bulgaria, Premier Adnan Menderes and his fellow members of the Turkish government now have been made the victims of savage propaganda attacks by both Russia and Syria.

Soviet Communist Party Leader Nikita S. Khrushchev has openly threatened to attack Turkey if it clashes with Syria.

Gets U.S. Support

This threat has been answered by an official State Department statement that the United States will defend Turkey if it is attacked.

Undoubtedly Menderes had been aware that Turkey could depend on the support of the United States as an ally in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Nevertheless, Turkey's situation is an unpleasant one with the greatest and most bellicose military power in the world as a neighbor.

Fortunately, Menderes and his 24 million fellow Turks do not frighten easily and they have the reputation of keeping steady nerves under fire.

Turkey has been warning for many months of the danger inherent in the Syrian situation. These warnings started long before the pro-Russian elements in Syria took control.

Sends Threatening Letter

Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin sent Menderes late last month one of the most threatening letters which he frequently addresses to the heads of free governments.

Bulganin complained of Turkey's alliance with the Western democracies and of its attitude toward Syria.

Menderes has sent Bulganin a reply defining Turkey's position clearly, calmly and firmly.

He said Turkey joined NATO because, like other countries, it felt it necessary to seek allies under the threat of aggression.

Will Attend County Meet

Local Trio To Sing for Clubwomen

The Harmonettes, a trio of local women vocalists, will provide the music at the fall meeting of the Westmoreland County Federation of Women's Clubs on Thursday at Mountain View Hotel near Greensburg.

Composing the singing unit are Mrs. Alvin Frick, second soprano, Mrs. Ray Michaux, soprano and Mrs. Robert Caldwell, alto. Mrs. Lily Anderson is the accompanist.

What started out as "just singing in church" is fast becoming an extra curricular career for the local women, all of whom are housewives. Mrs. Frick and Mrs. Caldwell have small children to occupy their time and Mrs. Michaux has a full time job, but somehow they all find time to get together and sing.

The women are members of St. Paul Lutheran Church. They started singing as a trio several years ago as members of the choir. They received invitations by many Lutheran and other churches to take part in programs, but confined their interests strictly to church activities.

In the last few years they began to get invitations from women's clubs and other groups to present the musical portions of programs.

When the 1956-57 club year opened for the Monessen Woman's Club, this unit presented several selections. From then on their popularity increased and the invitation for the county appearance was received. The Fellsburg and West Newton Woman's Clubs are also utilizing their talents this season.

Their increasing number of appearances before non-church groups prompted them to chose a name and widen their repertoire of selections. They have devoted many hours to rehearsal accompanied by Mrs. Anderson. They have many unusual arrangements of religious, classics, light classics, novelty and pop tunes and are anticipating their trip to Greensburg on Thursday.

Some of the outstanding musicians and vocalists of Westmoreland County and the Pittsburgh district have been chosen to perform before the county clubwomen at previous meetings.

News that Harry Craft had been rehired for the 1958 season as manager of the Kansas City Athletics was probably the best news Lou Kichinko heard on his entire western trip . . . Pitt's end coach Ernie Hefferle, who has developed some fine talent at Skyscraper U., especially in the likes of All-American Joe Walton, wasn't so much help to Pitt back in 1936. Today's Sports Parade—

Foot Back as Decisive Weapon in Grid Sport

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) — The foot was back in football today and it will be small wonder if the trophy case under the golden dome at Notre Dame contains a plaster model of a certain young man's big toe.

The extra point and the field goal, two gridiron weapons which have suffered sadly and almost to the point of extinction in recent years of lop-sided scoring, came into their own last week end. The size 11, in numerous instances, saved the day.

Most potent example was a lad named Monty Stickles.

You can call him a lad because he's only 19. That's as far as it can go. He's six-feet-four and weighs 215 pounds — but to the Cadets at West Point he appears a veritable giant.

Monty was almost a patsy. He missed an extra point attempt and with only seven minutes left to play, his Notre Dame team trailed Army by that one-point margin 21-20

Boots Winning Field Goal

So Monty stepped up and booted a 32-yard field goal to win the ball game. And, to make it even worse as far as the Cadets are concerned, he hails from Poughkeepsie, N.Y., which is just a few miles up the Hudson from West Point.

Then there was Wray Carlton, the Duke halfback who lugged the leather — as the football experts say—for a total of 105 yards. A fine performance which, probably wouldn't be remembered by next Friday afternoon. But he toed the point in a 7-6 win over Rice, and the Blue Devils will be talking about that one as long as the alumni gather.

Take, too, the case of Charley Rash. He calmly, albeit with palpitating heart, bounced his brogan up against the ball for the extra point which allowed Missouri to upset Southern Methodist, 7-6.

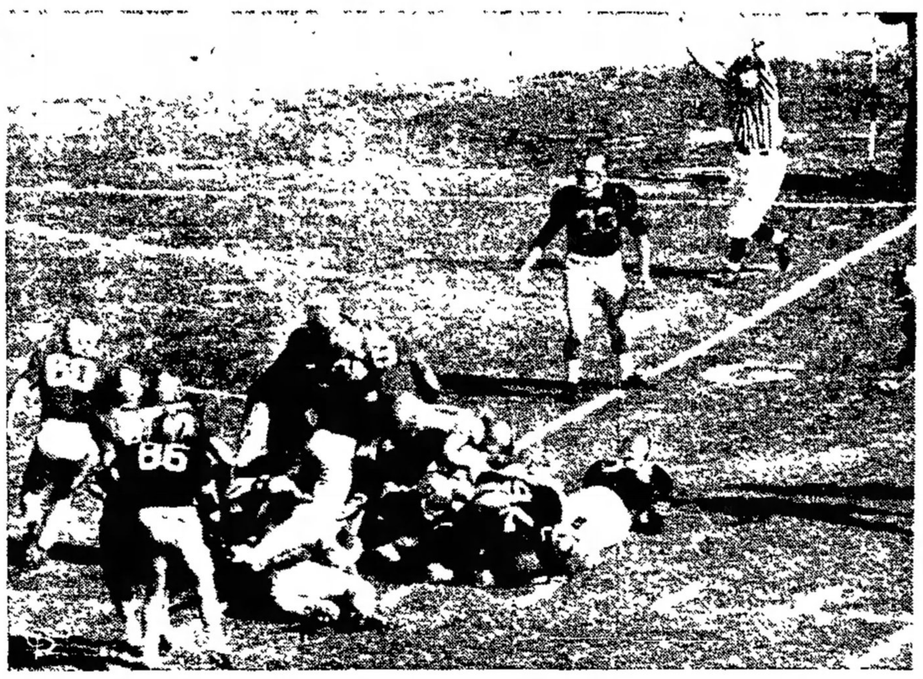
Coaches say that, once the going gets closer, the foot will play an evermore monumental part in separating the winners from the losers.

You might have trouble selling this to Steve Sebo at Penn. His gladiators have booted field goals, and in their last two games, and lost. And Utah State kicked a field goal only to lose to New Mexico. But it is indicative that the foot is providing "insurance" in cases, even if the premium falls overdue when the other team counters with touchdowns.

Washington & Lee has lost two straight games because its extra point kicker failed to convert. Long Beach State won its game Saturday by the extra point and Western Kentucky's field goal halted Youngstown.

Columbia scored one of the opening upsets of the season against Brown by way of the field goal. If it ever gets close again, look out.

Proving that the coach who has a kicker won't kick. Because the foot definitely is back in football and will be a deciding factor throughout the fall.



IRISH UPSET ARMY, 23-21 — Nick Pietrosante (center), Notre Dame fullback, climbs over a tangled pile of Army and Notre Dame players to score a first quarter touchdown, at Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium before a crowd of 95,000. Notre Dame in renewing the ancient rivalry between the two schools, took up where they left off ten years ago by coming from behind in the final quarter to defeat a favored Army team, 23-to-21.

Junior High Elevens Hoping for Action; Midgets Play Tomorrow

Keeping one eye on the sick list and one eye on the football calendar, district Junior High teams hope to see action this week.

On the local scene the Monessen Juniors travel to Charleroi Wednesday night for a 7:30 o'clock "big one" for both teams. The Little Cougars are currently unbeaten as are the locals, who won their opener, 13-7 over Brownsville.

Another "big one" has Marion and Vernon in their annual clash at Marion Thursday afternoon.

Rostraver hosts Fallowfield in what could be a very decisive game toward determining the Little Leopards' chances of retaining their conference crown.

New Junior High squad Carroll Township hosts Glassport at the Donora High School Field in one of two home games on the very intersectional Carroll card. Last week's game with Brownsville at Monongahela's field was postponed due to (that's right — the flu).

All of the Junior Highs had their last week games postponed except Marion which surprised with a 26-12 win over Fallowfield.

On the Midget League front here President Allen Kline announced that the games would be resumed as scheduled for this week with Jefferson battling Lincoln and Vocational meeting Frank-Lin tomorrow night.

The games postponed from the previous weeks will be played at the end of the current season which actually is tomorrow night's schedule.

No. 1 and 2 fire companies here are scheduled to handle the various duties assigned organizations at the games tomorrow night.

Eleven State Teams Remain Unbeaten, Untied

By UNITED PRESS

Wstminster scored its 24th consecutive victory, a 27-14 win over Bethany Saturday, to lead a list of eleven Pennsylvania teams still unbeaten and untied.

It was Westminster's third straight this year. West Chester chalked up its fourth straight this season by beating Baldwin-Wallace, 39-7. Lehigh, Lock Haven, National Aggies, and Pennsylvania Military were unbeaten in three games, Lafayette, Franklin and Marshall, Swarthmore and Ursinus in two and Juniata in one contest.

The big game of the day in Pennsylvania—which didn't involve a state team—was Notre Dame's come-from-behind upset of Army, 23-21, before 95,000 at Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium. Monty Stickles, a goat when he missed an extra point which would have tied the game, turned hero two minutes later when he footed a field goal from the 29 yard line for the winning points in the final quarter.

Penn State staged a fourth-quarter comeback to down William and Mary, 21-13, before a crowd of 29,800 at University Parl. Trailing 7-13 going into the final period, Dave Kasperian sparked a 57 yard drive for one touchdown and recovered fumble enabled Al Jacks to pitch a four-yard touchdown pass for the winning score.

Cards Sign Scouts

ST. LOUIS (UP)—The St. Louis Cardinals have signed six new scouts to their staff for 1958. They are Sheldon Bender, Bob (Whitey) Ries, Charley Frey, George Kissell, Eddie Lyons and Nelson Burbrink. The Cards also have named Arthur Fetzner administrative assistant in the scouting and minor league department.

Panthers Free Of Injuries for Army Contest

PITTSBURGH (UP) — The University of Pittsburgh opened practice today virtually free of injuries for its game with Army at West Point Saturday.

The Panthers came out of their 34-0 conquest of the Nebraska Cornhuskers hale and hearty. Quarterback Bill Kalsden and right halfback Jim Theodore, who sat out the Nebraska game, will probably be ready for the Cadets.

Pittsburgh, which has won its last three games, meets Army in Michie Stadium in a clash on which Eastern football supremacy may well hinge. Navy, Army and Pitt are the only logical contenders at this stage for the Lambert Trophy, emblematic of the Eastern championship.

As a result, the Pitt - Army game must be considered a major elimination contest. The game has been a sellout for more than two weeks, according to Army officials. Michie Stadium seats 27,000.

CSTC Drops 20-13 Homecoming Tilt

California State Teachers College suffered its third loss at California Saturday, but not before throwing a genuine scare into unbeaten Shippensburg.

A Homecoming Day throng of 4,000 watched the Vulcans erase an early 7-0 deficit, go six points ahead at 13-7 in the third stanza, and then yield a pair of fourth-quarter touchdowns.

California uncorked a long march for its first touchdown. Ron DiNardo finishing off the movement by cracking over from the one.

Later in the third stanza, DiNardo's pass to Jim Mendola, consuming 39 yards, enabled CSTC to shoot in front by a 13-7 count. Mendola traveled 20 yards after gathering in the toss.

Greyhounds Still Not Certain of Grid Foe; Redstone, Hempfield?

Word Expected Today Whether 'Hawks Will Be Ready for Friday Battle Here

Monessen High School officials would like to announce today that there was no further confusion in the football scheduling situation but unfortunately such is not the case.

The schedule calls for a game with Redstone this Friday night here but Redstone officials informed the local school heads that due to the flu hitting the Republic school later than other district schools the effects might not wear off in time to play this week.

Athletic Director Everett Pancook immediately contacted Hempfield Township to arrange playing the postponed game of Oct. 4 in case Redstone cannot play as Hempfield has an open date this week.

Over the weekend, Hempfield athletic heads said they had been attempting to fill the open date and hoped something could be worked out with Monessen but they were also contacting other schools.

Until the flu bug interfered the Greyhounds were scheduled to meet Brownsville tonight in a game postponed from Friday night but the illness left the Brownies too weakened to play tonight so that game has been postponed until probably at the end of the season.

Pancook said he hoped to have the muddled situation straightened out today sometime so that a definite announcement could be made tomorrow morning as to which foe the 'Hounds will meet this week.

A touchy situation also exists at Bellmar and Rostraver where they prep for their big one this Thursday night. Neither teams has had the effects of the flu to stop them yet although it has forced postponements of games by affecting opponents. Coaches Bap Manzini and Wade Bender are hoping it (the bug) doesn't decide to strike now.

Other top games this week show Monongahela at Brownsville, Donora at Har-Brack and North Catholic at Charleroi.

Richards Nears 500-goal Mark In NH League

By UNITED PRESS

Maurice (Rocket) Richard, 36 years young, needs only three more goals to reach the 500 mark.

The fiery Frenchman, who breaks a record every time he scores a goal, raised his regular-season total in the National Hockey League to 97 Sunday night with a three - goal burst that sparked the Montreal Canadiens to a 6-0 victory over the Detroit Red Wings.

Dickie Moore, operating on the same line with Richard, also tallied three times but it was the ageless Rocket who stole the show with the 32nd "hat trick" of his brilliant NHL career. He beat Detroit goalie Terry Sawchuk twice during the opening period and then added another in the third stanza.

The Canadiens' triumph enabled them to take over undisputed possession of first place, one point ahead of the Boston Bruins, who zoomed to a 3-1 triumph over the New York Rangers in the night's only other contest.

The three "M's" — Don McKenney, Fleming Mackell and Doug Mohns—each scored goals for the Bruins. Boston goalie Don Simmons lost a shutout when Danny Lewicki beat him with a low bouncing shot with less than three minutes remaining.

Barbero Explains Football Rules At HNS Breakfast

Tom Barbero, Faculty Manager of Athletics at Monongahela High School and one of the top gridiron officials in the disrict, explained the various changes in the football rules at the monthly communion breakfast of the St. Sebastian Holy Name Society in Belle Vernon yesterday in the church dining room.

Citing game situations, Barbero explained how the rules cover certain situations which sometimes confuse the fans. He mixed his interesting talk with bits of wit for the "fathers and sons" present. The sons of HNS members were attending in a group for the first time and will be guests at subsequent breakfasts.

Other speakers included: Joe Ferrari, delegate; Ed Bolger, a committee chairman; and Joe Tintori, vice president.

The Rev. Robert Feeney, assistant pastor of St. Sebastian pronounced the blessing and delivered a short talk on indecent literature. The Rev. David L. Fisher, assistant at St. Sebastians, gave the grace after meals following an address on Catholic action.

Russian Breaks 5,000 Meter Mark

ROME (UP)—Vladimir Kuts of Russia broke the world record for the 5,000-meter run Sunday, thereby serving notice he will be the man to beat at that distance in the 1960 Olympics.

The wiry Russian, winner of the 5,000 and 10,000 meter races in the 1956 Olympics at Melbourne, was clocked in 13 minutes and 35 seconds flat, clipping 1.8 seconds off the previous world record of 13:36.8 set by Gordon Pirie of Britain.

Irish Seen Helping Settle College Race; Play Okies, Spartans

By TIM MORIARTY

They settled Army's hash and who knows, maybe Notre Dame's Fighting Irish now can help settle the 1957 college football championship.

Oklahoma and Michigan State, the leading contenders for the national title, unfortunately are not scheduled to meet this season However, both play Notre Dame on successive Saturdays next month.

So if the Sooners and the Spartans remain unbeaten, those games with the Irish may decide who wears the crown this season.

Notre Dame conceivably could join in the title chase if the Irish continue their strong comeback, but the odds—and the schedule—are against them.

Irish Idle Saturday

The Irish draw an open date in their murderous schedule next Saturday — and they deserve it after that comeback 23-21 victory over Army at Philadelphia.

Trailing by two touchdowns with one minute remaining in the third period, Notre Dame fought back to edge the powerful Cadets on a field goal by Monty Stickles, a third-string end from Poughkeepsie, N.Y. It was the first field goal Stickles ever attempted and it traveled 39 yards—a good boot even in the pro ranks.

Oklahoma, meanwhile, spotted Texas a 7-0 lead and then bounced back to down the Longhorns, 21-7, for its 43rd straight victory while Michigan State employed the rushing of Walt Kowalczyk and the passing of Jim Ninowski to overpower Michigan, 35-6.

Fourth - ranked Minnesota kept pace with Michigan State in the Big Ten Conference by whipping Northwestern, 41-6, as Bobby Cox and Billy Martin each figured in two touchdowns.

Except for Michigan and Army, the other top-ranked teams rolled merely along the unbeaten highway.

Wray Carlton scored on a 68-yard run and kicked the decisive extra point as Duke edged Rice, 7-6; Auburn edged Kentucky, 6-0, on Billy Atkins' third period TD; Iowa opened defense of its Big Ten title by crushing Indiana, 7-7; Joe Francis scored twice as Oregon State blanked Idaho, 20-0, and Texas A&M, breezed to a 28-6 victory over Houston.

Arkansas Edges Baylor

Arkansas gained a toehold in the Southwest Conference race by edging Baylor, 20-17. Dartmouth and Princeon shared first place in the Ivy League, Auburn was tied with LSU and Mississippi for the lead in the Southeastern Conference, Duke and North Carolina shared the top rung in the Atlantic Coast Conference, VMI and The Citadel paced the Southern, while Oregon State, Oregon and Washington State each had 2-0 records in the Pacific Coast Conference.

Oklahoma and Michigan State each run into league "patsies" this week. The Sooners entertain Kansas and the Spartans host Purdue. Army will attempt to rebound against Pittsburgh, Michigan entertains Northwestern, Minnesota is at Illinois, Iowa hosts Wisconsin, Auburn visits Georgia Tech, Duke entertains Wake Forest, Oregon State is at UCLA, and Texas A&M visits Texas Christian.

LA Group Opposes Transfer of Land To Brooklyn Club

LOS ANGELES (UP)—A group of citizens opposing transfer of 300 acres of valuable land to the Brooklyn Dodgers for a ball park plan to start ringing doorbells today in an effort to force a public vote on the issue.

C. A. Owen, a former Civil Service commissioner, said the doorbell ringers are members of a "Citizens' Committee to Save Chavez Ravine in exchange for The group was organized last week to force a referendum on a City Council ordinance involving land for a Dodger ball park.

Under terms of the ordinance passed last Monday, the Dodgers would get 300 acres of land in CVAVEZ Ravine in exchange for their present ball park in the city, Wrigley Field, when they move to Los Angeles next year. Opponents of the ordinance charged that the Chavez Ravine property is worth far more than Wrigley Field and branded the deal was a "give away."

Dodger President Walter O'Malley said the club needed 300 acres of land for a 50,000-seat stadium he plans to build when the team moves to the West Coast for the 1958 season.

Opponents of the transfer need nearly 52,000 signatures from voters within 30 days after the ordinance is published in order to force the referendum.

NFL Attendance Lags Behind '56

By UNITED PRESS

The National Football League attracted 242,451 fans to its six Sunday games but has fallen almost 50,000 behind the record attendance pace it set last season.

Sunday's individual crowds: Rams - Lions at Detroit, 55,914; Browns-Eagles at Cleveland, 53,493; Forty-Niners-Bears at Chicago, 47,190; Redskins - Giants at Washington, 30,086; Steelers - Cardinals at Pittsburgh, 29,446; Colts-Packers at Milwaukee, 26,322.

Crowd figures given out in the various press boxes so far this season bring the total attendance for the first three weeks to 722,102. The attendance totaled 769,759 after the first three weeks in 1956. The NFL drew a record total attendance of 2,351,263 last year.

Milwaukee Victory Gave Baseball Break—Aaron

MILWAUKEE (UP) — All of baseball got a break when the Milwaukee Braves defeated the New York Yankees in the World Series, said the player who starred at the plate in the 1957 classic.

Outfielder Hank Aaron of the Braves, who had the best batting average, most home runs and most RBIs in the series, said:

"We showed all of baseball that just by playing good ball you can beat the Yankees."

The 23-year-old Braves slugger said Milwaukee's triumph "put an end to the domination" the Yankees held on baseball under manager Casey Stengel.

"That's going to do baseball a lot of good," said Aaron.

"We especially did the American League a favor," he said.

"The Braves set the example for the other seven American League teams by showing them that you play ball against those guys and you can beat them," he said.

"We took them by surprise and really broke them up," added Aaron on the Braves four Series victories that brought the world baseball title to Milwaukee and touched off a wave of jubilation from Manhattan's western boundary to the West Coast.

"I know we have a better ball club than the Yankees," said Aaron. "The Yankees didn't think we had it, but we showed them by capitalizing on anything that could benefit us. They outhit us but we got the runs that counted."

Aaron had three homers, 11 runs batted in, and an average of .393 to lead in the three most important departments in the Series.

Seven Players Chased In Browns-Eagles Tilt

CLEVELAND (UP) — One of the National Football League's bitterest feuds broke out again Sunday when the Cleveland Browns whipped the Philadelphia Eagles, 24-7.

Four Eagles and three Browns were thrown out of the game for fighting. The brawling reached a climax in the last period when the players started swinging at midfield and huskies from both benches raced on the field to get into the free-for-all.

Frank Wydo, Bob Gaona, Bill Barnes and Menil Mavraides of the Eagles plus Walt Michaels. Bill Quinlan and Paul Wiggin of the Browns were tossed out for fighting.

Coach Hugh Devore of the Eagles closed his dressing room to reporters and wouldn't discuss the fighting or the playing. Coach Paul Brown of Cleveland told reporters when asked about the fights which marred the game:

"Judge for yourself what happened. You saw it. We were just trying to play a ball game."

The Browns and New York Giants are advertised as the biggest eastern division rivals but the Browns-Giants games never produce brawls such as most Browns-Eagles encounters.

Before a Cleveland-Philadelphia game several years ago, an Eagle player reportedly said the only way to beat the Browns was to club them into submission. Brown replied that his team could be beaten but it "wouldn't be intimidated."

Neither side does much talking about the rough stuff for publication. But Brown once publicly charged the Eagles had several players who played dirty and said he believed the club would be more successful if it concentrated on football.

The next Browns-Eagles brawl isn't far off unless Commissioner Bert Bell does something about he situation. The Brownies invade Philadelphia next Sunday.

Cleveland showed its best offensive play of the season yesterday in scoring its third straight victory. Jim Brown, Chet anualk and Billy Reynolds scored touchdowns and Lou Groza added a field goal. immy Harris,arookie from Oklahoma, savedt he Eagles from a shutout in the final minutes when he intercepted a pass thrown by second-string Quarterback John Borton and ran 65 yards to score.

Colts, Cleveland Set Pace in NFL With 3-0 Marks

By EARL WRIGHT

The Baltimore Colts and Cleveland Browns, doling out points like misers counting gold pieces, hit the National Football League's one-quarter mark today with 3-0 records and became the teams to beat for the division titles.

Baltimore, "needled" by coach Weeb Ewbank when it trailed 10-7 at the half Sunday in Milwaukee, scored more than a point a minute in the last two periods to crush the Green Bay Packers, 45-17. It was the season's biggest offensive spree and the Colts have allowed their first three victims to average just 13.7 points.

There was virtually a fight a minute at Cleveland as the Browns tamed the Eagles, 24-7. The Browns and Eagles have been feuding for years and seven players were tossed out of Sunday's game for fighting. The Browns have allowed their first three opponents to average only 7.3 points and are beginning to look like the team that won six straight Eastern Division titles before losing the crown to the New York Giants in 1956.

New York, still not showing the power that made it league champion last year, edged the Washington Redskins, 24-20, and the Pittsburgh Steelers defeated the Chicago Cardinals, 29-20. The Giants and Steelers (both 2-1) trail the Browns by a game. Each has lost to Cleveland.

The Detroit Lions and San Francisco Forty-Niners (both 2-1) won thrillers and are a game behind the Colts in the Western race. The Lions intercepted six of Norm Van Brocklin's passes during a 10-7 victory over the Los Angeles Rams at Detroit and Y. A. Tittle's pass to R. C. Owens in the last 30 seconds gave the Forty-Niners a 21-17 victory over the Bears at Chicago.

A's Sign Three

They are Robert Horseman, 17, of Brinkley, Ark., to Grand Island of the Nebraska State League, William White, 21, of St. Louis to Seminole, Okla., of the Sooner State League, and John Wing of La Puente, Calif., to Pocatello, Idaho of the Pioneer League.

Jack Bailey scored the "hat trick" for Roscoe in defeating Avella, 4-1, in the other WPL game.

Parker's Feared No. 13 Proves Lucky Number Against Cards

By RUDY CERNKOVIC

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Pittsburgh Steeler Coach Buddy Parker, who has expressed horror of No. 13, had reason to doubt his pet superstition today.

The Steelers beat the Chicago Cardinals 29-20 Sunday—Oc. 13. Add up the digits of the score and it totals that number again.

Yet, last week the Cleveland Browns sustained the superstition when they beat the Steelers 23-12. It was the 13th time a Parker-coached team had net the Browns.

A blend of the "new look" offensive with the veteran defenders paced the way to the Steelers' second victory in two starts and a tie with the New York Giants for second place in the National Football League's Eastern Division. The teams meet in New York next Sunday.

Billy Wells turned in a record-breaking kickoff return, going 96 yards for the second Steeler score in the opening period. His run exceeded the former Steeler mark of 93 yards achieved twice by Lynn Chandnois. Wells was acquired two weeks ago from the Washington Redskins.

Other Steeler newcomers, who scored were Dean Derby, winding up an 80-yard touchdown for the first Pittsburgh tally, and Jug Girard who booted a 15-yard field goal in the final period. Quarterback Earl Morrall, picked up last month, tallied his first touchdown for Pittsburgh.

Veteran defenders Dale Dodrill and Bob O'Neill helped the Steeler cause with alertness. Dodrill, a middle guard for eight seasons, blocked a field goal attempt by Fat Summerall and defensive end O'Neill scooped up the ball on the Cardinal 22 and ran the rest of the way for a score.

In the final period Dodrill intercepted a pass by Lamar McHan and ran 44 yards to the Cardinal 37 to set up another touchdown.

Summerall booted two field goals, 33 yards and 27 yards along with two conversions. The Cardinals also proved their alertness with two final period touchdowns.

Floyd Sagely intercepted a Morrall pass and ran to the Steeler 49 from where Jim Sears rambled for a touchdown. Then Jerry Tubbs recovered Derby's fumble on the Pittsburgh 42 to set up a drive which ended with McHan's sneak over the goal line.

Providence Off To Fast Start In AHL Race

By UNITED PRESS

An attack of the flu and the presence of a couple of high school "kids" in the lineup notwithstanding, the Providence Reds have gained a fast start in the American Hockey League.

The Reds, crippled by the loss of several key players on the eve of the AHL season opener last week because of a flu epidemic, filled the bill with a pair of local high school stars and several recalled players from minor league clubs. The combination has proved successful even beyond the expectations of Providence officials.

The Reds scored three times in the opening period against the Springfield Indians Sunday and then added an insurance marker for a 4-1 victory which left them undefeated in four starts this season. A couple of old hands, Bruce Cline and Aldo Guidoli, and newcomer Bill Sweeney netted the three first-period markers and Ray Cyr, up from Vancouver of the Western League, added the extra goal in the last session.

The Hershey Bears scored early and late to defeat the Rochester Americans, 4-2, and the Buffalo Bisons gained a 2-1 win over the Cleveland Barons on Ken Wharram's third period goal in other games.

Parente, Wolford Pace Eagles League

Bette Parente paced the scorers in the Eagles Ladies League yesterday. She showed a 139-387 record for the top three-game mark but Helen Wolford had the best single game score of 143. Libby Rich, Ruth Koget, Ann Lombardo and Clara Nichols featured in the next best cards.

Standings — Bluejays 12-6, Canaries 12-6, Parakeets 10-8, Chicks 8-10 and Orioles 8-10.

Egyptian Troops Moving Up to Tense Turkish Border Today

By UNITED PRESS

Some of the Egyptian troops and tanks which landed in Syria were reported moving up to the tense Turkish border today in a development that heightened fears of an explosion in the Middle East.

Egyptian sources in Cairo warned that Egypt "will take military action if necessary to defend Arab nationalism against big power moves"—a warning that caused new uneasiness in Israel and Jordan. Cairo newspaper pictures showed tanks accompanying the troops.

King Feisal of Iraq met with King Hussein of Jordan Sunday, and there were reports in Amman that Iraq, a Baghdad Pact ally of Turkey, might send troops into Jordan to defend it against any threat.

Israeli Foreign Minister Golda Meir said in New York the Syrian build-up was a "serious and grave danger to Israel." And official sources in Jerusalem said the Egyptian "publicity stunt" could provoke the Arab states into some new action.

But Israeli sources said the Egyptian move may alert the United States and NATO once more to the military threat to Turkey.

The Egyptian troop movement came against a background of Syrian and Soviet charges that Turkey and the United States planned aggression against Syria, and a solemn warning by the United States that it stood by its commitments to help defend Turkey.

Jets Fly Overhead

The initial group of Egyptians landed in Syria at Port Latakia, only 20 miles from the Turkish border, while Syrian and Egyptian Soviet-made jets flew overhead. One battalion was reported to have landed for immediate deployment.

Damascus Radio disclosed that some Egyptian troops were being deployed along the Turkish border when it said "the arrival of Egyptian troops bolsters Syria's defenses in both the north (Turkey) and the south (Israel.)"

Informed sources in Cairo said the Egyptian troops would be deployed along the Turkish border where the Syrians are undermanned. Most of the Syrian army is concentrated against Israel.

Many Hurt in Volcano Blast

TOKYO (UP)—The sudden eruption of Tokyo's "suice volcano," Mount Mihara, appeared to be a one-shot blast that came at a bad time, police said today.

The unpredictable volcano spewed forth stone and lava in a mighty cough Sunday while hundreds of sightseers were on its slopes and rim.

One sightseer, Kiyomi Maki, 24, was hit on the head and killed by a piece of volcanic rock while standing on an observation platform. Another 54 were injured by flying stones and hot ashes.

Truck Over Cliff

BLOWING ROCK, N.C. (UP)—The body of 45-year-old Paul H. Bumyarner was found at the bottom of a 300-foot precipice Sunday near the wreckage of his pickup truck. Police said Bumgarner apparently lost control of the vehicle at high speed, causing it to swerve over the cliff.

Hot Trumpets Replace Organ

LONDON (UP) — Hot trumpets, sweet clarinets and throaty saxaphones replaced the traditional organ in an Anglican church Sunday night and played hymns in swing and jazz time.

The congregation, from all reports, was enthusiastic about it.

The Rev. Geoffrey Beaumont conducted the experiment in jazzing up church music at St. Augustine's Church in Highgate, North London.

Peter Knight, a top musical arranger, adapted the hymns to modern rhythm.

The British Broadcasting Corp. liked the idea so much it televised the service.

The orchestra was made up of musicians from some of London's top jazz and swing bands. It included a popular singer and a four-piece rhythm section.

Carrier Delayed

WASHINGTON (UP)—Completion of the 60,000-aircraft carrier Kitty Hawk may be delayed "by several months," the Navy has announced. It blamed the delay on installation of equipment to handle and launch guided missiles and incorporation of "improved facilities" to handle aviation fuel. A fixed date for completing the carrier has not been established, but it may not be ready for sea until late 1959. The Kitty Hawk, fifth of the Forrestal class, is being built by the New York Shipbuilding Corp., Camden, N.J.

Selected Shots

ATLANTA (UP)—Police admitted today that while he wasn't a doctor, Jesse C. Matthews was indeed a specialist. Matthews, 57, a former hospital employe, was charged with practicing medicine without a license after he admitted giving his select "patients" penicillin shots.

Queen Opens Canada's Parliament Session

OTTAWA, Ont. (UP) — Queen Elizabeth II wears her coronation gown today for the most important occasion of her visit to Canada—the opening of Parliament.

It will be the first time a reigning monarch has presided over Canada's governing body. For the solemn event the blue-eyed Queen brought along her coronation gown—a fabulously jewelled and embroidered white satin with sweeping skirt and slight train. It was designed by one of her favorite dressmakers, Norman Hartnell of London.

The historic day for the Queen and her 16 million Canadian subjects began with a meeting of her Privy Council, or Cabinet. Among them was Prince Philip, who was appointed Sunday by the Canadian prime minister.

Sunday night, Elizabeth made her first "live" television speech, an informal chat in which she confessed that life, even for a queen, has its dull side.

It was a slightly nervous queen who made her debut, but before her informal, eight-minute talk was over, she again was poised royalty.

Speaking part-time in English, part in French, she told Canadians she hopes to return to America in 1959 to open the St. Lawrence Seaway and that she will make a trans-Canada tour at the time.

The Queen added that "one day" she would like to bring her two children, Prince Charles, and Princess Anne, to North America.

Looking to historic appearance before Parliament today, she observed:

"There are long periods when life seems a small dull round, a petty business with no point and then suddenly we are caught up in some great event which gives a glimpse of the solid and durable foundations of our existence. I hope that tomorrow will be such an occasion."

The royal couple spent Sunday in a way typical of a Canadian Sabbath. Elizabeth placed a wreath at the National War Memorial in front of the Parliament buildings; the couple worshipped at the Christ Church Cathedral. They took a stroll through the grounds at Government House.

And they were presented a 350-pound sturgeon, caught off the Nova Scotia coast. It was flown by the Royal Canadian Air Force to Ottawa.

Runaway Reactor Is Blamed for Ruining Milk

SEASCALE, England (UP)—Authorities temporarily banned milk produced in the area of the Windscale plutonium plant today.

They said a runaway reactor had contaminated it with radioactivity.

Tests of food crops in the area were underway.

One of two piles in the Windscale reactor overheated last Thursday and sent a surge of radioactive waste into the sky.

Most of it blew out to sea but some settled on the community, apparently more than was first believed.

Cows ate radioactive grass and produced milk containing six times the allowable amount of radioactive iodine.

"We don't say that the situation is dangerous but we felt it necessary to stop supplies, especially for children," an Atomic Energy Authority spokesman said.

He said the ban was mainly precautionary until laboratory tests were completed, including the ones on feed and vegetables

Reserve Guard At Juniata Dies Of Lung Rupture

HUNTINGDON, Pa. (UP)—The coroner's office said today that Howard R. Specht, 19, Millvale, a reserve guard on the Juniata College football team, died of a lung rupture.

Deputy Coroner Eugene T. Shore said it was "extremely unlikely" an athletic injury or a respiratory illness caused Specht's death. A pathologist who performed the autopsy said the defect may have been congenital or of unknown cause.

Specht was found dead Saturday night in an off-campus dormitory, the same day he was released from the school infirmary after a bout with influenza. He had been hospitalized since Thursday.

Shore said Specht's condition was "caused by a sudden rupture of the surface of the lungs." He listed death due to an "acute dilation or enlargement of the heart due to a collapse of the lungs."

Supreme Court Holds First Working Session Of New Term Today

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Supreme Court meets today for its first working session of the term Action is likely on a variety of race, Communist and other important issues.

The court will dispose of a big batch of appeals that piled up during the summer recess. A few will be accepted for argument and later decision. Most will be rejected

Then the court will proceed with arguments on some of the cases that were accepted last term

On this week's argument list is a plea to overrule a 1954 decision that aliens may be deported solely for past membership in the Communist Party.

Discrimination Charged

Another is a complaint by Negro railroad employes in Texas alleging discrimination by the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks

The summer backlog includes the fourth appeal to the high court by Virgil D Hawkins, a Negro who has been trying to get into the University of Florida Law School since 1949 In March, 1956, the court ordered Hawkins admitted promptly but the state still has not done so

A recent appeal also related to the race issue is that of segregationist John Kasper. He wants the high court to reverse his criminal contempt conviction for interfering with school integration at Clinton, Tenn., last year.

The cases with Communist overtones filed during the summer include challenges to the constitutionality of New Hampshire's subversive activities law and New York's 1951 security-risk law.

Two others come from the West Coast. They are appeals by Hugh Bryson, San Francisco union leader convicted of filing a false non-Communist affidavit with the government in 1951; and by three Portland, Ore., witnesses convicted of contempt for refusing to answer questions of the House Committee on Un-American Activities in 1954

Reversal Conceded

The Justice Department has conceded the trio are entitled to a reversal. They are Herbert Simpson Donald M Wollam and John Rogers Mackenzie

The court has also been asked to examine —The validity of "hog cargo" contracts which provide that union members shall not be required to work on non-union or struck goods

—The conviction on income tax evasion charges of Acy Lennon, secretary to Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr. (D-N.Y.).

—A complaint by General Electric Co that its products are being illegally sold in New York by a Washington mail order house at below so - called "fair trade" prices

Admits to Slaying

MIAMI (UP)—A mild-mannered male secretary was held today for what police said was the revenge slaying of his sister's husband. Officers said 24-year-old James Hamilton beat John Rebar, 36, with a crowbar as Rebar slept Hamilton said the dead man had beaten Mrs Rebar, Hamilton's sister.

Rally Day Held Yesterday by Pricedale Church

Rally day was observed at Pricedale Union Sunday School yesterday. A large crowd attended despite the current wave of sickness.

Awards were given to Mrs. Edmond Rogers, and Mrs. Lydia Popp, oldest members present — each being 82 years old with only 10 days difference in their ages; Mary Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Patterson, was youngest, 13 months; and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Echart, largest family.

Following, Mr. Paul Switzer assumed the pastorate of the church, having been elected last Sunday by a unanimous vote by the congregation.

His message was from the First Book of the Romans. The group sang "All That Thrills My Soul Is Jesus". The pastor closed the meeting with benediction.

Joyce McCarthy Is Scout President

Girl Scouts 57, Arnold City, met recently at the home of Mrs. Rebecca Dupree. The meeting was opened by President Joyce McCarthy. Roll call and minutes were by Philis McCarthy.

New officers elected were: Joyce McCarthy, president; Millicient Thrasher, vice-president and Karen Dews, treasurer. Plans are being made for a halloween party.

Mr. and Mrs. George Miller, R. D., Belle Vernon, are vacationing at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Aley Paul, Minneapolis, Minn. Mr. Paul is studying to be a Lutheran minister.

Mrs. Sellman Is Class Leader at Olive Branch

The Ladies Aid of Olive Branch Church met Thursday with Mrs. Perry Sellman, president, in charge of the meeting and devotions. Following prayers and scripture reading by the leader, the group sang hymns.

The group discussed making apple butter this Thursday for purchase by the public.

The annual Armistice Day (Veterans Day) supper will be held Nov. 9 at Grange Hall.

Hostesses were Mrs. Ardo Shupe, Mrs. George Regotti and Annie Valentine. Reports were read by Mrs. Frank, secretary, and Mrs. Martha Stevens.

Others present were Hattie Williams, Mrs. Guy Patterson, Mary Piersol, Mrs. Frank, Muriel Jobes, Mrs. Reed Lynn, Marian Patterson, Helen McNutt, Martha Robertson, Alfretta Smith and Hazel Todd.

Willard Whitmore Is Guest Speaker

The Missionary Society of Olive Branch Baptist Church will meet Thursday with Willard Whittemore, formerly of Ohio, as guest speaker. He just recently returned from a mission in India and will leave for another post soon.

He is the son of The Rev. Roy W. Whittemore, former Olive Branch pastor.

The congregational meeting of the church will be held Wednesday at the church.

The Ladies Adult class of Pricedale Sunday School will meet Thursday evening at the home of Eva Williamson, Charleroi.

The trustees of Pricedale Union Church will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the recreation building.

Antarctica Men Have Something To Fight for

McMURDO, Antarctica (UP)—Start with a bunch of men who have been in frozen Antarctica for seven months and more.

Add two good-looking women.

And what have you got? An international dog sled race that has generated more steam than the World Series and the Army-Notre Dame game put together.

The sleds—one driven by an American and the other by a Briton—will race carrying two Pan American World Airways stewardesses two miles from the McMurdo Airstrip to Deepfreeze Headquarters Monday night.

The girls, brunette Patricia Hepinstall, 26, of Houston, Tex., and blonde Ruth Kelly, 29, of Holyoke, Colo., are coming in from San Francisco aboard a Stratocruiser bringing replacements for some of the men who wintered over here.

They are the first women ever to fly into Antarctica and will get within 730 miles of the South Pole, nearer than any other woman has been to it.

At first the dog race odds favored the New Zealand team, to be driven by British Dr. George Marsh, 9-2.

But the driver of the American team, ABM 3 John A. Yeckley, 21, of St. Benedict, Pa., caused a shift in his favor with a pre-race statement.

"My dog's are sprinters," he said. "Theirs are load-pullers. In a two-mile race the sprinters will take it."

Veteran Doctor Dies in Somerset

SOMERSET (UP) — Dr. Jacob T. Bowman, 75, a practicing physician in Somerset County for 50 years, died Sunday at his home here.

Dr. Bowman, who was honored last year by the Pennsylvania Medical Society on completing a half-century of practice, was a graduate of the now defunct Electric Medical College in Cincinnati.

He began his practice at the Somerset County community of Garrett in 1907. He moved to Somerset in 1910.

In 1916 he established the Bowman Private Hospital, which four years later became what is now the Somerset Community Hospital. He was a native of Cambria County.

Methodist Quartet Sings At Meeting of Society

Favorite songs of the world were sung by a quartet from the Fayette City Methodist Church choir for the worship services of the Woman's Society of Christian Service's guest night.

A number of members of the society and guests participated in the worship service led by Mrs. Read Brightwell. Using for her subject, "Our Home Mission Centers and Race, she used focal points depicting the American Indian and the Japanese. Negro spirituals were selected in the opening group of numbers by the quartet, Mrs. Wellington Baldwin, Sr., Mrs. Samuel Miller, Clarence Young and Read Brightwell. Mrs. Ray Ermlich was at the piano.

Mrs. Brightwell presented the speaker of the evening, Mrs. George Hayden. Mrs. Hayden is the wife of the former district superintendent of the McKeesport district of the Pittsburgh Conference and was formerly from Charleroi.

Her talk was interesting in that it showed how foreign missions, home missions, ladies aids and other womens groups of the Methodist church finally formed into what is now the largest federation of women of the world.

The guests were welcomed by the president, Mrs. Edwin Hindmarsh. A brief business meeting included the announcement of a seminar being held at Newell, Friday, Oct. 19, an invitation from the Perryopolis Women's Society to their meeting on Thursday, Oct. 18, a report on the Old Fashioned Dinner, a report on the progress of kitchen improvements and an announcement of the Fall Festival being held on Friday, Nov. 8 in the Community Center.

The festival will feature a cooking demonstration by the West Penn Power Co. in the auditorium. In the annex, a number of booths will be set up for a snack bar, handcraft booth, doll clothes sales counter, and a baked goods and candy booth. The co-chairmen are Mrs. Clarence Young and Mrs. Read Brightwell.

An informal social hour was enjoyed. The luncheon tables were decorated with fall flowers by the hostesses, Mrs. Irwin Abbott, Mrs. Richard Auther, Mrs. Willard Ather, Mrs. Fred Brightwell, Mrs. John L. Bake, and Mrs. Lillie Roy.

Card Party Tonight

The Fayette City Woman's Club is holding a card party this evening in the clubrooms at the Community Center.

The committee members are each responsible for cards, players and refreshments for one table. The affair begins at 8 p. m.

Mrs. Sophia Cooper, formerly of Fayette City, visited over the weekend with relatives here. Mrs. Cooper is the sister of Mrs. Walter Ridgway, Mrs. Mary Igoe and Mrs. Maine Renstrom. She returned to her home in Dayton, Ohio today.

Ministerial Group To Meet Tonight

The Ministerial Association of Fayette City Protestant Churches will meet this evening at the home of the Rev. Harry Beveridge.

The members of the Association include the Rev. D. Earl Daniel, Presbyterian; Mrs. John Bower, Christian; Elder Arthur Warner, Reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints, and the Rev. Beveridge Methodist.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear wife, mother and grandmother, Mrs. Thomasina Flora, who died three years ago today, October 14, 1954.
When life threatens to make us blue
We cling to a memory to carry us through,
Feeling that somewhere you are standing by
Ready to help when you hear us cry
And so dear mother your life of love
Is a precious treasure from Heaven above,
Your grave we tend with loving care
For part of our hearts is buried there,
Sadly missed by Husband, Sons, Daughters and Grandchildren

In loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, Petunia Loulis, who died 10 years ago today, October 14, 1947.
You left behind some broken hearts,
That loved you so sincere,
That never did nor never will
Forget you, Petunia, dear.
If all the world was ours to give,
We would give it, yes, and more,
To see the face of the one we loved
Come smiling through our door.
Sadly missed by Parents and Brother.

In loving memory of our dear daughter and granddaughter and niece, Petunia Loulis, who died ten years ago today, October 14, 1947
We had a little treasure once,
She was our joy and pride,
We loved her, ah, perhaps too well,
For soon she slept and died
All is dark within our dwelling,
Lonely are our hearts today,
For the one loved so dearly
Has forever passed away.
Sadly missed by grandmother, Mrs. George Loulis, Aunts Dorothy, Mary and Archie and Uncles John and Sock.

Extortion Trial Expected to Go To Jury Today

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Federal Court trial of two union business agents charged with extorting $200 from a Washington County paving firm was expected to go to a jury today.

Thomas Pecora and Dante Martire, both of Pittsburgh, were accused of violating the Taft-Hartley Labor Law by accepting money from an employer in exchange for labor peace. The defendants, business agents of Local 1058, Hod Carriers and General Laborers Union, have denied the charge.

A jury of four men and eight women will deliberate the case which began last week before Judge Herbert P. Sorg.

William Wiggins Jr., former partner in the Black Top Paving Co., Washington, Pa., was the government's key witness. He said the firm paid the $200 to Pecora and Martire in 1951.

Construction to Be Big Boon to Steel Industry

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UP)—Steel magazine said today the construction industry will do an estimated 7.5 billion dollars worth of business this year and -billion in 1958.

Real profits this year will remain about the same as last year while dollar gains will be mostly inflationary, Steel said — adding the prediction that next year things will start looking up.

Steel's construction survey—in both business and government fields—indicated gains in private construction will stem from easier mortgage money for housing. Steel saw a possible increase of 80,000 home groundbreakings over 1957's one million.

Other private construction next year will maintain or drop below this year's level. Industrial and commercial construction will suffer most, according to the trade magazine.

Public construction, with the exception of military building, will remain up. Conservation and highway projects will be big money - makers in 1958. Highway bridges will provide the biggest steel construction accounts for the next five years.

Heavy Rains Flood Rivers in West Texas

By UNITED PRESS

New flooding hit Texas today in the wake of torrential rains that sent the Colorado River over its banks and forced the evacuation of about 100 families at Ballinger, Tex.

A series of cloudbursts Sunday dumped nearly three inches of rain at points in central Texas and up to nine inches in western portions of the state.

Rivers and creeks throughout much of western Texas climbed to flood stage, but the worst damage appeared to be at Ballinger.

Floodwaters blocked highways to the south and west of the city and knocked out telephone communications. The Red Cross at Abilene sent cots and provisions for the Ballinger evacuees.

Stormy weather was common throughout the West Sunday, with only North Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa and New Mexico failing to report rain.

East of the Mississippi River, a vast high pressure center brought generally fair skies except for a few thundershowers along the east coast of Florida.

Overnight temperatures tumbled under clear skies, with Phillipsburg, Pa., reporting an early morning low of 27 and readings in the 30s common in New England and the Great Lakes.

The western rains were mixed with snow in western Colorado where 2 to 20 inches of new snow blanketed the Uncompahgre Plateau in the Rockies.

Light snow also hit the high mountain passes west of Denver, but no main highways were reported closed.

Forecasters predicted continued scattered showers or thunderstorms today from the Pacific to the Mississippi except for California.

Fair and warmer weather is predicted for the Mississippi east to the Atlantic coast.

Dr. Isaac Starr Named Winner of Lasker Award

NEW YORK (UP)—Dr. Isaac Sarr, a research professor at the University of Pennsylvania Medical School, has been named the 1957 winner of the Albert Lasker Award.

Starr was selected for the award by the American Heart Assn. Sunday "for distinguished achievement in the field of cardiovascular research" and his "fundamental contributions to our knowledge of the heart and circulation."

The awards committee of the AHA said Starr's laboratory experiments disclosed the mechanisms of congestive heart failure and resulted in new concepts in the treatment of heart disorders.

Starr was born in Philadelphia in 1895 and studied at Princeton University and the University of Pennsylvania. He joined the medical school staff at Pennsylvania in 1922 and now is engaged in therapeutic research there.

The $2,500 Albert Lasker Award will be presented to Starr at the heart association's annual scientific meeting in Chicago on Oct. 27th.

The annual award was established in cooperation with the AHA in 1953 by the Albert and Mary Lasker Foundation to acknowledge and spur research in the fight against cardiovascular diseases.

Five Teen-agers Killed in Crash

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (UP) — Five Chicago teen-agers were killed and a sixth critically injured when their souped-up car left the road on a curve, plowed through a row of mail boxes and crashed into a tree.

Police said the car, a 1957 model with a four-barreled carburator, shot off Johnsburg Road 20 miles west of here Sunday while travelling at about 100 miles per hour.

Trust to Distrust

PARIS (UP)—Japanese engineer Kitano Hiroo was quickly transformed Sunday from a trusting soul to a doubting Thomas. A stranger offered to look after Hiroo's luggage in a hotel elevator until the engineer got to the lobby. When Hiroo arrived, the obliging stranger and the luggage, including $1,200 in travelers' checks and a round the world plane ticket, were gone.

New Drugs Increase Life Span

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

The head of a large pharmaceutical firm made a speech awhile back in which he startled many in his audience by saying:

"It would be interesting to note that if this meeting were being held in 1857 rather than 1957, over half of this audience would not be present."

Then he went on to explain why.

"About one of every five of those missing would have died in early infancy from whooping cough, colic, typhoid fever, or any of the host of other diseases common to infants in those days.

"About one out of 10 would have died before adolescence as victims of diphtheria, scarlet fever, smallpox, nutritional deficiencies or a number of infections classified — for lack of a more specific identification — as blood poisoning.

"If we managed to survive to manhood, about one of every 12 would have died before the age of 30 from tetanus, diabetes, appendicitis or some other disease for which there was no effective treatment at the time.

"Finally about one of every six would have died before the age of 50 from pneumonia, tuberculosis 'blood poisoning,' typhoid fever or some other disease which today has been practically conquered."

These statistics, more graphically than anything else I can think of, show the advance medicine has made in the past 100 years.

Harry J. Loynd made the speech in Detroit some months ago. He is one man who knows what he is talking about, since he is president of Parke-Davis.

When Parke-Davis began making medicines some 90 years ago, they were concerned primarily with only a few basic medicinals. Today, they make more than 600 therapeutic agents — anticonvulsants for treating epilepsy; antibiotics, vaccines to combat polio, tetanus, whooping cough and other diseases, vitamins, hormones and many other health aides.

Other drug manufacturers, of course, have advanced at a similar pace. In fact, Loynd's company is the only one of some 1,200 pharmaceutical firms in the United States.

With vigorous, farseeing companies like these, is it any wonder that in the last 18 years alone, the average life span has increased from 63.7 years to 70.1 years?

Question and Answer

M. M.: What are the symptoms of pleurisy?

Answer: The main symptom of pleurisy is pain when breathing, often more severe when air is being taken in. The chest expansion is limited on the side where pleurisy is present.

Groucho Marx Gives Romanoff Hard Time

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Today's Quiz:

Q. Who has the oldest continuous TV show on the air?

A. Groucho Marx. His "You Bet Your Life" program moved into its ninth season this month.

The mustachioed comedian not only holds the longevity record, he also has the astonishing distinction of being among the top ten in each of his years as quizmaster.

"It's really nothing," Groucho said with exaggerated nonchalance. "But I'm afraid to look back over the years — too many people chasing me."

Chides Romanoff

He took time out to peruse the menu in Romanoff's elegant restaurant, and signaled the Maitre 'D. "Get Romanoff over here," he ordered.

Prince Michael himself marched over, his face reflecting the dread of a much abused target for Groucho's blasts.

"Mike, you fraud," the comic asked, "Is there anything edible on this menu. The whole thing looks suspicious to me." Romanoff flinched. "I don't know why I ask you about the food," Groucho went on. "You can't afford to eat in this joint either."

After five minutes of wrangling, and much to the discomfiture of Romanoff, Groucho ordered a raw hamburger with a single caper and a soupcon of raw onions.

Romanoff departed, mumbling about the hardships of running an eatery.

"Because I'm the oldtimer on TV other performers ask me how I manage to stay on the air year after year," Groucho said. "The answer is that I've saved my money and remained independent.

"I'm not kidding about this. As long as you're independent you can do as you please without worrying about losing your job.

"I do the show because it's fun—not for the money. When it ceases to be fun I'll quit. It's that simple. Actually, I haven't thought about quitting."

Favors Pay TV

Having survived wrestling, quiz shows, situation comedies, panel shows, and now westerns, the little man with the big cigar figures he still will be around when pay TV enters the picture tube.

"It's coming for sure," he said, "and the advertisers deserve it. They've provided such poor programs people are willing to pay to see worthwhile entertainment."

Groucho was interrupted by Romanoff who returned with a pleased smile. His mustache quivered importantly.

"Incidentally, Mr. Marx," he crowed, "your brother, Harpo, was the first person to eat in my Palm Springs restaurant."

"I know," Groucho concluded dryly. "We just got a report from his doctor."

Romanoff moved away again. He didn't come back.

The Department of Agriculture estimates that a garden of three-quarters of an acre can supply all the vegetables and small fruits, both summer and winter, for a family of five.

TV Quiz Tie Game Tonight

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK, (UP)—"You can do me a favor when you write your story about me," said David Mayer. "Thousands of people know me as Zachariah Zilch and I think it's about time I straightened them out."

Mayer is the stubby, mustached psychologist currently competing against contestant Harold Craig on the quiz, "Twenty One." Mayer and Craig face off against each other for the seventh time tonight, having sweated through six tie games on the NBC-TV show.

On camera, Mayer is of somber mien. In his business life, as head of Market Psychology Inc., a motivational research outfit, Mayer's demeanor is also grave.

A Practice Jokester

But behind the serious facade, there lurks a different sort of man. Mayer has a long history as a practical jokester.

"This Zachariah business has been going on since the 1930's," confessed Mayer, "and I guess it's about time I put an end to it. I used the name whenever I met someone I didn't care to see again and I guess by now there are several thousands who know me by the name of Zilch.

The Zilch caper, however, is only part of his secret past, Mayer said. His tenure in the Army during World War II was stitched with practical jokes including one in which he persuaded a gullible latrine orderly to bind the fixture covers together so they would come to attention during inspection. Mayer climaxed his Army career, he believes, when he wrote out his own transfer to Paris.

Went To Harvard

"I suppose some of the real highlights of my life as a practical jokester came at Harvard where I was a student before the war," said the 36-year-old Mayer. "Three other students and myself once stole a key to the Lowell Library, sneaked in one night and turned around 5,000 books in the stacks.

"The next night—after all the books had been turned back again—we went back and reversed one complete row just to show our power. Then, on succeeding nights, we sneaked into four other libraries to turn books. We had the place in an uproar."

However, all this is part of the past. "A practical joke is just a hidden aggression, a way of asserting your superiority by laughing at someone else," said Mayer. "I recently went through psychoanalysis and now that I understand all this, I've given up practical jokes entirely."

Marlon Brando Stories Conflict

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—The mystery of whether Marlon Brando married an Indian miss or a Wales lass tantalized Hollywood today as the actor and his beautiful young bride honeymooned in secret.

Conflicting stories of whether or not Brando's bride, Anna Kashfi, 23, was or was not an Indian arose soon after the couple was wed in a surprise ceremony Friday night in the Pasadena home of the actor's aunt.

A Cardiff, Wales, facory worker, William Patrick O'Callaghan, claimed that the 23-year-old, beautiful Miss Kashfi was really his daughter Joan, a former butcher's assistant and actress, born in Calcutta.

Want to Buy Plot On Mars

By DAY INOSHITA

TOKYO (UP)—Buy a plot of land on Mars?

Choice residential tracts, shopping areas and resort districts are going for $3 30 per 80-acre subdivision.

If this seemed an opium eater's dream at one time, the Soviet earth satellite has made things different.

The Japan Astronautical Society is enjoying boom business since Moscow issued its dramatic announcement this month.

One block from the Ginza, Tokyo's great white way where $1,000,000 would scarcely buy enough dirt to fill a child's sandbox, is where to file your applications.

Take a rickety elevator to the sixth floor of a tiny office building surrounded by department stores, clothing shops, tea rooms and cabarets. Climb another floor to the roof and you're looking at JAS the Mars subdivision real estate office

It may look like a wart on the roof, but it is a penthouse for those who have their eyes on the stars.

Cost: 1,200 yen

Enter a tiny office where two girls and a few men sit around some tightly cramped desks, plunk down 1,200 yen and you're a landowner.

For your money, you get a JAS membership pin—a space ship, four stars and a moon—a printed "Guide to Mars," and a blue and yellow certificate of reservation for the Mars land subdivision."

If you are a careful shopper, you will read the certificate which gives your name, and reservation number, and adds:

"You possess 100,000 tsubo (80 acres of land on Mars.

"In the future when this society succeeds in its plan of developing the soils located on Mars, it will give priority to your reservation and presents this certificate as a guarantee that it will subdivide 100,000 tsubo of land within the planned area."

The fine print contains some sage words of advice:

"In preparation for becoming Martians, you must respect science, love the arts, be generous, unselfish, and friendly, rise above sex and defend peace."

JAS started parceling out tracts on Mars in September last year, at the price of 200 yen, plus a similar amount in initiation and membership fees. Today, the price has skyrocketed to 1,000 yen, plus the 200 yen JAS fees.

Today, almost 6,000 persons are the starry-eyed holders of JAS certificates making them landowners on Mars, 35 to 63 million miles away.

Holder of certificate No 1 is Prince Yoshi, 21-year-old second son of Emperior Hirohito.

"This doesn't give him royalty privileges on Mars, however," said Zentaro Hozumi, JAS director. "We aren't planning yet on having royalty there."
